

Giovanni Brauzzi

Chargé d'Affaires at the Embassy of Italy in London

Topic of Speech: Italy's role in Europe

*What is Italy's role in post-Lisbon Europe?
How is this different from Italy's historic role?
Should the EU have an army as the Italian foreign minister suggested?*

His expertise: The Minister and Deputy Head of Mission at the Italian Mission in London, Brauzzi is an experienced diplomat.

Other Activities:

- Brauzzi wrote an insightful article in the guardian in January 2010 in which he confronted Martin Kettle, associate Editor of the Guardian, about his negative views on Italy which were espoused in a controversial article.
- In 2008, Brauzzi spoke at the University of Birmingham on "Europe: an ever closer union? The differences between Italy and the UK".
- In 2007, he took part in a seminar at the University of Edinburgh at which he spoke about Italy, NATO and the Riga Summit.

Date: 25th February, Location TBC, 5pm

UNIVERSITY OF OXFORD
EUROPEAN AFFAIRS SOCIETY

